

Abstract Of The Disclosure

[0057] A medical device is described that comprises a polymeric component and a microcapsule additive including 5 a fluid that enhances direct visibility during magnetic resonance imaging of at least a predetermined portion of the polymeric component.